

Foreword

The idea for this book came to me as I was practicing the same old exercises for the thousandth time. Why not practice with J. S. Bach? Why not re-work some of the preludes from The Well-Tempered Clavier into études?

Two general tempo suggestions are given—Moderato and Lento. Moderato can mean any speed from moderate to fast. Lento implies a slower pulse. The études work well at many different speeds, so please experiment. Articulations are mine (with help from Glenn Gould). Dynamics are not indicated because many different sound levels can (and should) be explored. Additionally, playing these studies on the tenor trombone will be excellent practice for the low register.

I would suggest always playing with a full tone and letting the dynamic rise and fall naturally with the musical phrase. Although not intended for public performance, I hope that you will find these études technically challenging and musically rewarding.

3. [Moderato]

The musical score is written in bass clef with a key signature of two flats (B-flat major) and a 3/4 time signature. It consists of three staves of music. The first staff begins with a treble clef and a 3/4 time signature, followed by the number '3.' and the tempo marking '[Moderato]'. The music is written in bass clef. The first staff contains four measures of music. The second staff contains four measures of music. The third staff contains four measures of music. The music features a variety of rhythmic patterns, including eighth and sixteenth notes, and rests. There are also some slurs and accents.

[Lento]

22. [Lento]

The musical score consists of three staves of music in bass clef, C major, and common time. The first staff begins with a treble clef and a common time signature, followed by a key signature of one flat (B-flat). The music is marked [Lento]. The first staff contains a series of eighth and sixteenth notes, with slurs and ties. The second staff continues the melody with similar rhythmic patterns and includes a trill-like figure. The third staff concludes the exercise with a final cadence, featuring a trill-like figure and a final note.
